"Project:DEMO"
Global Youth Missions

The majority of Canadians are now living in large urban centres, but what's life in the city really like? Through interactive stations created to simulate real life urban issues, "Project:DEMO" will "demonstrate" a quieted reality that exists in the heart of all major cities across the nation, and "demolish" assumptions made about inner-city communities. Come stand in line for lunch at a soup kitchen, or take part in a needle-exchange program. You're invited to come feel and experience firsthand what urban living really means!

"The Eastern Bride"

He was living in his own world—until he stepped into theirs. . . Pete de Jaeger is a savvy, young, globetrotting South African business consultant. However, as a Christian, Pete is unaware of the pressure fellow Christians are under in the Middle East. He's also unaware of the deception in China where the government "appears" to be open to Christianity. That is about to change. . . While on a business trip to the Middle East, Pete ends up in the midst of a family crisis. He is quickly awakened to the fact that Christians in both countries face real life persecution for following the Lord, something Pete has not recognized. . . until now. This challenging and inspiring drama will open your eyes to the realities of life for Christians under pressure in the Middle East and China.
